Accreditation of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine:
COM (New & Developing) Accreditation Standards
Introduction

The American Osteopathic Association’s Commission on Osteopathic College Accreditation (COCA) accredits osteopathic medical education programs leading to the DO degree in the United States (programmatic accreditation). The COCA also accredits free-standing colleges of osteopathic medicine where no other educational program is offered (institutional accreditation) and serves as the federal Title IV gatekeeper for those institutions. By assessing the compliance of osteopathic medical education programs based on the nationally accepted standards of the COCA, we serve the interests of the public and of the students enrolled in our Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine (COMs).

To achieve and maintain accreditation, an osteopathic medical education program leading to the Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine (DO) degree must meet the standards contained in this document.

The COCA regularly reviews the accreditation standards, and seeks feedback from the osteopathic community and public. Changes to the COCA standards are considered at a public hearing before a final vote for adoption is made by the COCA. Once approved, new or revised standards are published in Accreditation of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine: COM Accreditation Standards, which indicates when the changes become effective.

New and developing COMs proceed through a three stage process prior to reaching full accreditation:

1. Applicant Status
2. Candidate Status
3. Preliminary Accreditation

This document is organized into a series of standards, each of which includes a concise statement of the principles that represent the standard. The elements of each standard specify the components that collectively constitute the standard; they are statements that identify the variables that the COCA considers in evaluating a medical education program’s compliance with the standard.

More detail on the accreditation actions may be found in the Accreditation of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine: COCA Policies and Procedures document. Additional information about the accreditation process and the standards and elements may be obtained from the COCA office (predoc@osteopathic.org) or from the COCA website (www.aoacoca.org).
Applicant Status

Applicant status is the initial step in seeking accreditation. This status is offered without rights or privileges of accreditation, and does not establish or imply recognition by the COCA. Applicant status is granted upon the formal request for evaluation submitted by the Chief Executive Officer of the applicant COM.

Applicant status is not made public by the COCA and should not be advertised or publicized by the applicant status COM. A school at this stage should identify themselves as “XCOM (applicant status – seeking accreditation)”.

The Applicant Status Request Form is to be completed and submitted to the COCA at least 36 months and no more than 60 months prior to the anticipated matriculation date of the first class of students. An application for Applicant Status must also be accompanied by a non-refundable application fee of $6,000.
Candidacy Status

Candidacy status is the second step in seeking accreditation by an applicant COM and is conferred with the privilege of recognition by the COCA, which will be publicly announced. Candidacy status may be granted to COMs that demonstrate the planning and resources necessary to be expected to be able to proceed to Preliminary Accreditation within two (2) years.

An applicant for candidacy status must submit a Candidacy Status Self Study along with a Feasibility Study (Business Plan) that assesses the viability of the proposed new COM. The Feasibility Study (Business Plan) must be developed in partnership with a professional nationally known external business consulting firm. The COM Dean and administrative team must play an integral role in the development of these documents. An application for Candidacy Status must also be accompanied by a non-refundable application fee of $32,000.

It is expected that a Dean will be hired at least 12 months prior to the submission of the Candidacy Status documents and will provide the principal guidance and direction in the development of the COM through all steps of the candidacy status process and beyond through Preliminary Accreditation and into Accreditation. A change in the Dean during this time period requires re-initiation of the Candidacy Status application process.

It is also expected that the Dean will hire qualified individuals at the Associate/Assistant Dean level to assist him/her in the development of the COM through candidacy status and into the Preliminary Accreditation status and ultimate progress to Accreditation. A minimum of two Associate Deans must be under contract with the COM before Candidacy Status will be granted.

The COM holding Candidacy Status will not recruit, accept applications from, or admit prospective students. This means that a COM holding this status must not do any of the following:

- Use solicitation to recruit students;
- Solicit or collect application fees;
- Collect application information, including academic transcripts, Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) scores, and letters of recommendation;
- Initiate the admission review process;
- Schedule interviews for any potential applicants;
- Offer advice on financial aid; and
- Issue letters of admittance into the COM.

Candidacy Status Process
1. COM Submits Candidacy Status Self-Study and Feasibility Study (Business Plan) and Check for the $32,000 non refundable Application Fee
2. Staff Review
3. COCA Commission Self-Study and Feasibility Study Review (or Executive Committee)
4. Once all feasibility procedures are met based on paper submission, a Candidacy Status Site Visit is authorized.
5. Escrow Contracts are developed.
6. Candidacy Status Self Study, Site Visit Report, and Escrow Contracts are presented to the entire COCA for review
7. COM Testimony may be offered
8. Third Party Testimony may be offered
9. Decision by the COCA regarding the granting of Candidacy Status; the Escrow Accounts must be funded prior to the granting of Candidacy Status

Review of Candidacy Status

Candidacy Status will be reviewed annually via submitted written reports until the COM achieves Preliminary Accreditation. If the COM has not been able to proceed to Preliminary Accreditation within 24 months of the granting of Candidacy Status, the Candidacy Status will be withdrawn. A re-application will require a new Candidacy Status Self Study and Application Fee.
